

VOL. 38.—NO. 176.

ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY EVENING, JANUARY 7, 1888.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

BY CARRIER, TWENTY CENTS A WEEK.

They'll Surprise You.

The golden bucket we're dipping in for business to-day is enterprise!

There's nothing but a crumb of profit to be got from Trousers made-to-measure at $5 a pair.

The quality and style and workmanship absorb the rest.

But, first, the style! The dressiest men who know the Scotch and Irish Trousering styles will see them mirrored back in these!

He'll buy two pairs or three of these, and spend no more than if he bought a pair of those.

The goods were made for us by mills at home, with weave and coloring and latest foreign styles imitatively like. They'll be a long-remembered money's-worth for wear and looks.

Let Trousers bought as jobs and poorly-made, to sell at shabby prices, wait! They ought!

You'll search the stores in vain to find a parallel!

Wanamaker & Brown,
210 and 212 N. Broadway.

We have laid the ax of January to the prices of our Winter goods. They must be sold.

Take Good Advice and Fortune at the Floor.

Oh, what is the use of being foolish?
When life is but a span, How foolish is he who does not Believe there is good in the world that he visits
And say at the end of his labor, what is it But mental and physical suffering?

Speak softly and mildly to even the aggressor,
"Harm measure don't pay!"
First care for the gifts the gods are bestowing Your children and wife.
Good husband and father it's easily knowing That he has a safe life.

Don't take up a grievance, it's folly to do so,
For death is the lot of all.
Make much of your lot, like Robinson Crusoe,
And go to the end of the world.
No other man you
Partake of the fortune so many are sharing—Pay weekly your dues.

For what is so blissful as home in its neatness, Shut in from all care?
Contentment and pleasure, beauty and sweetness—You'll find all these there!
Melior has guided and aided so many,
That those who can find for his plan no penny Deserve to be poor!

Any man, whatever his fortune, can make a home,
With Melior's help and by the installment plan.
Begin with the new year, and learn what is true happiness. See

THE ONLY MICHOL.
1022—1024 Market Street.
P. S.—Never were household goods so lovely or so low as Melior sells them in 1888.

ESTABLISHED 1829.
CLEANING, DYEING AND REPAIRING.
Suits cleaned in six hours.
Dyeing.
Costs—$1.00 Coat, $1.00 Trousers, $2.00
Pants, $1.00 Coat, $1.00 Trousers, $2.00
N. 6th st., bet. Market and Chestnut st.
Orders by express promptly attended to.

Oldest Established House in the City.

BEN WALKER,
Removed to 17 N. Broadway, Opposite the Court House.

I have for sale the Largest and finest stock in the city, consisting of Diamonds, Watches, fine jewelry, 18-carat Wedding Rings, Silverware, the Clocks, Opera and Field Glasses, Music Boxes, Musical Drawing and Surgical Instruments, Stenographs, gold-headed Walking Sticks, Silk Umbrellas, Chain and marked Poker Chips, Playing-cards, Gigs, Revolvers, Sporting Guns, Trunks, Trunks, Trunks, Clothing, etc. (Orders sent from the country promptly attended to. All goods warranted as represented.) Highest amount loaned on all personal property.

BEN WALKER.

PROF. MATTHEWS'
OLD ESTABLISHED
DYE WORKS,
No. 215 OLIVE ST.

Gentlemen's Clothing Cleaned, Altered and Repaired in best style. Orders by express promptly attended to.

LADIES!
Do Your Own Dyeing at Home, With PEERLESS DYES!

They will dye everything. They are sold everywhere.
Price like a postage—40 cents. They have no equal for strength, brightness, amount in package or for ease of use. Color does not fade. They have been used by the highest authorities in dyeing. They do not crack or stain. For sale by H. D. Pack Drug Store, 2002 Broadway at N. 10th cor. Chestnut and Olive Sts. E. B. Smith, 1022 N. Broadway, Cor. Chestnut and Olive Sts. St. Louis, Mo.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING.
EPPS'S COCOA.

PREPARED BY
J. B. EPPS, CHOCOLATE MANUFACTURER,
ST. LOUIS, MO.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has prepared this delicious and healthy beverage, which may be used by the infirm as well as the robust. It is not only a most refreshing and invigorating drink, but it is also a most valuable food. It is sold in all the leading cities of the world, and is highly recommended by the highest authorities in medicine. It is a most valuable food for the infant, the invalid, the aged, and the laboring man. It is a most valuable food for the sick, the weak, and the nervous. It is a most valuable food for the young, the old, and the middle-aged. It is a most valuable food for the rich, the poor, and the laboring man. It is a most valuable food for the whole human race."

GEO. D. BARNARD & CO.,

Washington Av. and Eleventh St., Offer to Ladies who own an Engraved Card Plate,

100 Engraved Cards for 25c

They charge only $1.50 for an ELEGANT EN-GRAVED PLATE and 100 CARDS.
The quality and style of our

Engraved Visiting Cards and Wedding Invitations Cannot Be Equalled in St. Louis.

They also carry a stock of Commercial Stationery, make Blank Books, do Job Printing and Lithographing for Business houses.

"Home Comfort" Ranges

ALL WROUGHT AND MALLEABLE IRON.
USES SOFT OR HARD
COAL OR WOOD.

EXCEL all others in BEAUTY OF
DESIGN.

EXCEL all others for DURABILITY
and ECONOMY.

EXCEL all others for BAKING, BROILING or ROASTING.

Examine before buying, and be convinced of above facts.

Pat. PIFTING and DUMPING GRATE.
BAILED
ASH PAN.

LOWER WARMING CLOSET.

WROUGHT IRON RANGE CO.—411 N. Fourth St.

MELLIER'S
HYGIENIC TOILET SOAP

In the manufacture of our "High Class Perfumes" we accumulate large quantities of Pomade, the medium by which the delicate odors of the flowers are secured. On this account nothing but a mixture of the finest neutral lard and purest tallow can be used for the base of the pomade. MELLIER'S HYGIENIC SOAP is made from this, with the addition of Glycerine, and is agreeably scented. It is an emollient, which will keep the skin soft and smooth and prevent chaps.

Price—20c Per Cake; 50c per Box of 3 Cakes.

MELLIER DRUG CO., WASHINGTON AV.

TRUSSES

Scientifically adjusted and of the most approved styles.

Silk Elastic Stockings, Supporters, Bandages, etc., AT PRICES BEYOND COMPETITION.

A. S. ALOE & CO., SURGICAL INSTRUMENT MAKERS, Corner Fourth and Olive Streets.

IF An Immense stock of Artificial Eyes.

ALEXANDER'S Beef, Iron, Wine and Pepsin

A Standard Preparation and recommended by physicians, especially in cases of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Strength and Lack of Energy. One bottle will have more effect than twice the quantity of plain Beef, Iron and Wine. Price, $1.

ALEXANDER'S BALSMIC CREAM—An Unsurpassed Compound for Chapped Face and Hands, rendering the skin soft and smooth. Price, 25 cents.

ALEXANDER'S COUGH MIXTURE—Successful for Twenty-five Years.
ALEXANDER'S CORN-REMOVER Will Remove Corns.

Prescriptions and family medicines accurately compounded by skilful pharmacists under the direct supervision of

M. W. ALEXANDER, Graduate Philadelphia College of Pharmacy,
Northwest Corner Broadway and Olive Sts

Spring Prints,
Spring Gingham,
Domestic Cotton Goods.

LARGEST STOCK
AT LOWEST PRICES.

SAM'L C. DAVIS & CO.

COUGHS & COLDS

J. & C. MAQUIES EXpectorant SYRUP.

Syrup of Marsh-Mallows, Wild Cherry, Peppermint, Eucalyptus, and all the best of the most valuable ingredients, is palatable to the taste, acts gently, and its effects may be relied upon. For sale by all Druggists.

LATEST EDITION

ROYAL CHARITY.

Queen Victoria Utilizing the Surplus Women's Jubilee Offering.

Proposed Founding of an Institution for Nurses for the Poor.

The Irish Rent Reductions—Mr. O'Hagan Disagrees With His Brother Commissioners—Free Trade's Stringhold—Opening of the Jubilee Exhibition by the Pope—Condition of the German Crown Prince—Blunt's Sentence Confirmed—Matters in Mexico—Foreign News.

Special Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, January 7.—The celebration of Queen Victoria's jubilee will result in permanent benefit to the poor classes. The Queen has instructed a small committee to report the best means of utilizing the surplus Women's Jubilee Offering. This committee, consisting of the Duke of Westminster, Sir James Paget and Sir Rutherford Alcock unanimously advise Her Majesty to apply the money to the founding of a nursing home for the benefit of the sick poor in their own homes. The chief center of the institution is to be at London, with branches at Edinburgh and Dublin. The three nurses will be classified in three ranks according to length of service or skill and devotion. The Queen has always, since the death of her husband, whom she nursed in his illness, taken the deepest interest in nursing the sick. She delights in visiting the homes of the poor, and even of the peasantry in the neighborhood of Balmoral in cases of sickness, and in accordance with her suggestion the money should be applied in some such way as now recommended.

The Jubilee Imperial Institute, for which the Prince of Wales is indefatigably begging subscriptions, is generally ridiculed. Nobody on earth is able to say what its objects are or where it will be situated.

It now turns out O'Hagan differed from his brother Commissioners, Linton and Wrench, in respect to the famous rent-reduction edict, not because he thought it went too far in giving discretionary powers to the local Commissioners to make reductions, but because he thought the act gave greater powers in this respect than his colleagues could make. I believe that is what the Parnellites complain about, that the reductions are made discretionary on the part of the local Commissioners, and that the law is in contemplation of the fact that the farmer may get less for the entire product of his farm when the prices are high than when they are low. However, the Government's action through the Commission is not a concession of the rubber written about the Irish tenants being able to pay rent, but refusing through sheer dishonesty. The Times to-day gives prominence to a letter from a correspondent who alleges that he knows a man who will not pay his rent, and who has £700 in gold under the floor of his cabin. "His cabin," says the Times, "is literally paved with gold." It really seems that the well-to-do classes persuade themselves that they are the poor people of Ireland, whose equal they are not, and who are not to be spot, are quite to be envied. Fifty years ago English saw common household bread sold on the Irish race course as a luxury and things have not much improved since in spite of gold floors.

FREE TRADE.

How strong a hold free trade principles have here was recently seen in the panic among the Tories when they thought they might be identified with protection. A member of the elected anti-home rule member from Winchester is an orthodox free trader. Hartington and Goschen almost daily proclaim their fidelity to free trade, because they can not help feeling that they have not, and who has £700 in gold
under the floor of his cabin. "His
cabin," says the Times, "is literally
paved with gold." It really seems that the
well-to-do classes persuade themselves that they are the poor people of Ireland, whose equal
they are not, and who are not to be
spot, are quite to be envied. Fifty years ago English saw common household bread sold on
the Irish race course as a luxury and things
have not much improved since in spite of gold floors.

THE JUBILEE EXPOSITION

Formally Opened by the Pope in the Vatican.

Special Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

ROME, January 7.—At noon yesterday the Pope formally opened the Jubilee Exposition in the great hall dedicated to the display of the wonderful collection of presents sent the Holy See, and in the presence of a very select assembly of invited guests, made up of the entire diplomatic corps in full uniform, the College of Cardinals in their state robes, the special ambassadors, all the Archbishops and Bishops now in Rome, every prominent member of the Society and the Grand Duchess Maria Theresa of Tuscany. The Pope was attended by all of the of ficers of his court, in full dress. The Pope wore his white robes, the great diamond cross blazing upon his breast, which has been presented by the United States of Colombia. He was carried to the exhibition in his sedan chair, followed by an imposing cortege, and was installed with great ceremony in the throne room. A choir in the gallery composed of two hundred voices sang the hymn, "Te Deum," especially composed for the occasion by the Maestro Volpi.
After this Cardinal Schifano, honorary President of the Committee of Promotions of the Exposition, addressed His Holiness in a very long speech, in which he eloquently deplored the progress of art and science and his protection. In his peroration he pointed to the incomparable triumphs accomplished by the Church without violence and coercion no less.

He believed that assurance in the future, according to their faith, will finally conquer the world. He closed by saying to the Pope that he hoped His Holiness would fill the chair of St. Peter's for many years to come.

The Pope looked very happy and made a short speech in reply, remaining seated the meanwhile. He closed his brief remarks by saying that his soul was deeply moved by the manifestations of love and veneration which were reaching him from all parts of the world.
He regarded them as evidences of the power of the Papacy which the enemies of the church had vainly attempted to deny. The share taken by the sovereigns of the world in the jubilee proved that they justly appreciated the importance of the Papacy. He concluded by praising the organizers of the exhibition. The Pope then declared the exhibition formally opened. After this the choir sang a hymn specially composed by Maestro Capocci. The 20 voices of the choir were accompanied by an orchestra of fifty instruments. The Committee of Promoters were then presented to the Pope, who addressed to him his special thanks.

At 1:30 the Pope left the hall, and followed by his court visited the galleries of the exhibition, during which the bells were rung and one of Gounod's anthem sung to the accompaniment of a band of brass instruments. The Pope manifested the greatest admiration and pleasure at the arrangement of the articles on exhibition.
The proceedings throughout were most imposing. The building was guarded and order was maintained by the noble Palestine Guard, by the Swiss Guard and by the Papal Gen-armes, who will wear their full uniforms for the next three days, during which the exhibition remains open for pilgrims only. It will be then closed in order to permit the completion of arrangements. It will be definitely opened to the public on the 15th. There is a very great variety of gifts, perhaps, the most specially admired of the various departments of the exhibition being the Braccio, Nuovo Chiramoniti, containing the most precious gifts presented by royal personages. At 3 the ceremonies were complete. The Pope, before retiring, visited the committee-room and again complimented the managers.

The Pope has announced that he will receive the Presidents of the English and American Churches, who will be accompanied by the 10th inst. Mr. Clifford will make the necessary arrangements for the reception.

USING EPISCOPAL PRESSURE.

Charges that Mr. Percele is Engaged in a Conservative Intrigue in Ireland.

Special Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, January 7.—The Pall Mall Gazette has recently published an article in which it was stated that Mr. Percele was engaged in Ireland in a kind of Conservative intrigue and that undue pressure was being brought to bear on Nationalist priests. It published yesterday a copy of a letter written by the Vicar-General of an Irish Catholic Bishop to a priest in Dublin, in which he observed that the document in question is in exact accord with the statement made above.

EXCLUSIVELY PRIVATE.

DEAR FATHER.—The Bishop has directed me to communicate with you confidentially on the following matter: His Excellency Mr.
Percele has been in Dublin, and has been trying to have you prosecuted under the coercion act. This event would, I need hardly say, cause the deepest pain to the Bishop, and he has accordingly asked me to request you to write to him to the effect that you do not intend to leave the country, and that you will remain in Dublin, and above all bring to the notice of the new statute-law, which
law, apart altogether from the consideration of duty or discretion I am sure that you will agree with me that compliance with these suggestions will be a proper and graceful mark
of respect and deference to the Bishop, at whose request I write now.

The Pall Mall Gazette continues: "Now, here we have a clear case of Episcopal pressure on a priest to leave the country, and the Bishop has been told that Mr. Percele is trying to have you prosecuted under the
coercion act. This event would, I need hardly
say, cause the deepest pain to the Bishop, and
he has accordingly asked me to request you to write to him to the effect that you do not
intend to leave the country, and that you will
remain in Dublin, and above all bring to
the notice of the new statute-law, which
law, apart altogether from the consideration
of duty or discretion I am sure that you will
agree with me that compliance with these suggestions will be a proper and graceful mark
of respect and deference to the Bishop, at whose
request I write now."

CHRONIC LARYNGITIS.

The London Lancet on the German Crown Prince's Disease.

Special Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, January 7.—The Lancet to-day has the following about the Crown Prince: In the issue of October 13, last year, we pointed out that there are two forms of chronic inflammation of the larynx, one in which the mucous membrane alone is affected, which is of a trivial nature, often lasting a lifetime without causing any inconvenience, and on occasional hoarseness; and another more serious disease, which leads to interstitial thickening, ulceration and excrecences. We expressed the hope at that time that the excellent general health of the Crown Prince would prevent the development of these symptoms. It appears that after all the illness of His Imperial Highness parades of the character of the more severe form of chronic laryngitis. In the early part of November, when the great consultation of physicians took place, there was a rapidly growing tumor with an ulcerated surface and an enlargement of the glands of the neck. Although no microscopic examination of the growth could be made, it is not surprising that the physicians in attendance considered themselves justified in believing the disease to be cancer.

The signs, we are able authoritatively to state, are completely authorized. The growth has shrunk to a fourth of its former bulk, the ulcer on its surface was healed and its place occupied by a cicatrix, while the enlargement of the glands has totally disappeared. It is obvious that the condition now is, therefore, the very opposite to which presented itself in November, and it may not unreasonably be hoped that the case is one of mere chronic inflammation, and that the growth will be completely absorbed. It must not be forgotten that Prof. Virchow never found any malignant elements in the portions of the growth removed by Sir Morrell Mackenzie on three occasions, and further, that Prof. Virchow has since carefully looked through all specimens accessible to him, with a view of discovering, if possible, whether any case exists in which a benign growth has been found to be present in the immediate neighborhood of cancer. Not only a single instance was found, but as it is highly probable that the whole morbid process which has been taking place during the past year is part and parcel of the same disease, there seems to be reasons for hoping that after all the new formations may not be a malignant nature.

THE FATHER OUT FOR A WALK.

SAN REMO, January 7.—The weather here to-day is splendid. The Crown Prince was out for a walk, and took a very agreeable stroll, from which he suffered no ill effects.
He afterward went out driving.

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

GEN. BRAGG WILLING TO ACCEPT THE MEXICAN MISSION.

The Case of Father O'Shea—A Question Regarding the President's Authority to Revoke Military Appointments—The Theobald-Carlisle Contest—Committee Meetings—The Boston Sherman Banquet —Washington News.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 7.—Gen. B.
Bragg of Wisconsin is at present in Washington and it is reported that his visit is for the purpose of conferring with the President and Secretary of State relative to the Mexican Mission which is now vacant. Bragg and early this morning Gen. Bragg put in an appearance at the White House. He wore a dark shade over his left eye which, he said, was not due to a recent "knocking out," but to a severe cold which he had caught in Mexico. When spoken to concerning the rumor that he may be sent to Mexico, he said he had no objection to the statement, but that he was not personally concerned. He admitted that the Mexican Mission would be both congenial and acceptable to him, and that he was a non-committee of the House, he naturally felt a certain amount of interest in the formation of the committee, especially the Military Committee, which he was Chairman during the last Congress. He congratulated his friend Dick Townsend upon his promotion to the Chairmanship, and very heartily commended Mr. Townsend will be known to the country as "Gen." Richard Townsend.

ARMY MEN INTERESTED.

The Question of the President's Authority to Revoke a Military Appointment.

By Telegram to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 7.—An interesting question is now before the law officers of the Government in connection with the revocation of the appointment of Father Morris O'Shea as a Chaplain in the army. The President appointed Father O'Shea before the opening of Congress. He was notified of the fact and accepted the position. Subsequently the President changed his mind and desired that the position should be filled by another Catholic clergyman. Father O'Shea was communicated to the fact, and that he is now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be effective to his removal or reappointment. The question hinges on the right of the President to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the President's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the President has not legally the power to annul Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The
question hinges on the right of the Presi-
dent to revoke an appointment after it is
made and accepted. Army officers,
who see that their long lease on their
positions would be cut short by the Presi-
dent's power to revoke their commissions
at pleasure, are naturally anxious to see
if the President will sustain in the course
pursued by him in the O'Shea case. It is the
impression in army circles that the Presi-
dent has not legally the power to annul
Father O'Shea's appointment, and that he is
now a Chaplain in the army, despite the Executive
order. The question under consideration in
this connection, however, would not be ef-
fective to his removal or reappointment. The question hinges on

Handsome Toilettes Worn by the Ladies—
A Charming Affair—Mrs. Judge Phillips

OF VITAL INTEREST.

The Remarkable Case of a Lady

An Episode Covering Over Three Years—A Case That Baffled the Skill of the Most Learned Unknotted

at Last.

"Would you like to get an item that would be of the greatest interest to everybody in St. Louis?"

The above interrogation was put to a reporter a few days since, by a gentleman well known around town, and upon the entire replying in the affirmative the gentleman said:

"Go to Mr. McCreath's, 808 North Ninth street, and you will obtain full particulars of a case that vitally interests every man, woman and child in the city."

The reporter's finger at the door bell was answered by a Mrs. McCreath, a pleasant-faced lady, who, upon the entire of the man's business, was answered by: "Oh, yes; I know what you want. It is information in regard to my case, and I assure you it is entirely true in every particular."

Would you object to giving the particulars?" asked the reporter.

"Certainly not," replied the lady.

[illegible]

placed myself under Dr. McCoy's treatment, and less than one month I was completely cured, and I today as you can see for yourself the very picture of good, robust health.

"I would unhesitatingly advise any one," continued the lady, "who is afflicted as I was to call as soon as possible on Dr. McCoy, and being well assured, he will always in the future be my physician and friend."

Mrs. Mary McGrath is the most estimable lady, the wife of one of our most prominent citizens. She is also a devoted Christian, being a consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and her social and acquaintances is legion. She resides at 806 North Ninth street, where she will be pleased to vouch for the statements to any who may call and see her in reference to it.

NEWLAND'S

Angling-Club

INCORPORATED.

The only place in the West for ladies' during confinement, where regular physicians and trained nurses, in attendance.

DR. H. NEWLAND, 1205 Chestnut ave.

AMUSEMENTS.
OLYMPIC---To-Night.
MRE ★ KIRALFY'S
Grand Spectacular Production, LACARDERE.
Matinee Saturday at 2.
Sunday, Jan. 8--Rice's Beautiful Brangolina.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.
TO-NIGHT AT 8.
BOSTON HOWARD ATHENÆUM

SPECIALTY COMPANY.

To-Morrow Evening—Hoyt's New Play, "Hold the Ground."

GRAND OPERA-HOUSE

WEEK COMMENCING SUNDAY, JANUARY 8.

HOYT'S
 best, the funniest Comedy Satire ever written, A HOLE
 -IN THE-

GROUND.
New and original Songs and Music.
A Magnificent Company of Comedians.

POPE'S TO-NIGHT

Lost in New York. Audiences enthusiastic over the RIVER OF REAL WATER. ACTUAL STEAMBOAT. 15c, 25c, 35c, 50 and 75c. Next Sunday Matinee—Called Back.

STANDARD.
Nightly at 8, Matinee Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday.
THE NIGHT OWLS
The largest and most talented burlesque and specialty company in America.
Next week the greatest of all Irish plays, entitled

PEOPLE'S THEATER!
To-night, matinee Wednesday, Saturday and Sunday, great hit of MRS. A. HERNES original and only legitimate adaptation of the beautiful story

HEARTS OF OAK.
Sunday night, January 6—THE IVY LEAF.

CASINO, 4th and Walnut Streets.

MONDAY, January 2, 1888.
HASTEN SISTERS, MERMAIDS,
 Prof and Mrs. STEEN, MIND-READERS, FAMILY CYCLOPE.
 Admission, 50c and 25c. Matinees, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays; admission, 25c.

GRAND OPENING LUNCH
With Music and a Quartette in attendance, at F. J. Kunz' Saloon, 27 South Second street, cor. of Lami, SUNDAY.

FAIR GROUNDS
—AND—
ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN.

THE MOST CHARMING RESORT

Admission, 25 cents; children under 12 and free.

